HOME SAVINGS BANK BUYS PROPERTY FOR NORTHEAST BRANCH

Site At Eighth and H Streets Purchased—Building Planned.

The Home Savings Bank today purchased the property at the northeast corner of Eighth and H streets north-east and will erect a new branch banking house there. The property has a frontage of twenty-four feet and a depth of eighty feet to an alley, giving a site ample for a large building. Plans for the new building have not been drawn, but it is the plan of the bank to erect a modern banking house of the one-story type and to move its northern quarters from their present location at the southwest corner of Seventh and H streets northeast.

The present northeast branch bank was opened about five years ago. Its business has grown rapidly until the quarters are too small for present and future needs, hence the plan to remove to a new building which will be on a larger scale.

The location of the proposed building is now regarded as one of the most important business centers in the northeast section of the city. The Capital Traction Company's new Eighth street line intersects the Columbia line of the Washington Railway and Electric Company at this point. Officials of the bank regard the location as a very desirable one for the future, assuring an even more busy intersection.

As soon as possession of the property can be had, in a few months, the work of construction will be commenced.

ARGUES OWN CASE; GOES TO OCCOQUAN

Anthony D. Gaegler Sentenced to Six Months on Wife's Charge.

Anthony D. Gaegler, 1946 Third street northwest, today begins a six-month sentence at Occoquan as the result of having tried to argue his own case in the juvenile court yesterday. In the face of almost overwhelming testimony of his wife, her sister, Mrs. Catherine A. Miller, and her mother, Mrs. Catherine C. Miller.

Mrs. Miller told Judge De Lacy that Gaegler was a habitual drunkard, and that during the eighteen years of married life with her daughter, he had failed to contribute to the support. Mrs. Miller said Gaegler had run through a fortune of $30,000, part of the estate of her husband. She maintained that Gaegler had spent the money in wild schemes and that her daughter had been forced to sell her house and that she was at the end of her resources.

Gaegler said he had supported his wife luxuriously, but when he attacked the judge against him he was interrupted in the midst of his story and sent down for six months.

"Wiggler" Sent to Training School

Earl Taylor, aged eleven, wigged himself out of Miss M. M. Greenwood's typical school at 55 Fifth street northeast into the juvenile court and finally out to the National Training School. Miss Anna Bogan, probation officer, and Miss M. M. Greenwood, his teacher, testified that Taylor was a confirmed "wiggler" that he would not respond to any of the good influences of the school, and that he was addicted to the use of tobacco to the extent that his heart was enlarged.

Taylor, who appeared before Judge De Lacy yesterday, told the court that he could not help himself. His mother said that he had had rheumatism when he was five years old, and that it had made him nervous ever since. Two teachers said the boy would not stay at school. He was sent to be examined physically before being sent to the training school.

New York Stocks Weaker—Local Market Strong

SECURITIES SUFFER A SHARP REACTION FOLLOWED BY SUBSTANTIAL RALLY.

NEW YORK, March 25.—The reaction which started in the closing hour yesterday was continued in the early trading today, until the leading issues had lost about a point and a half of the advanced ground gained in the bull spurt. It was, but natural that those recently coming into the market should desire to take profits, and the number of these proved too much for the bull supporters to grapple with. However, the reaction was checked before the noon hour today and a substantial rally took place.

As was the case yesterday, Smelters, People's Gas, Reading and a few other specialties were the leaders, yet fair attention was given to other stocks, the street railways, steels and coppers being in evidence. Reading, which reached 16 1/2 yesterday and closed at 16 1/4 today, opened at 16 1/4 and sold off 1/4 of a point during the morning, gained part of the loss and was moving actively and firmly at the noon hour. Smelters which lost more than 2 points in the reaction recovered a part of the lost ground.

Considerable attention was paid to the steels, especially Bethlehem Steel, common, which is one of the lowest stocks of the list considering the good reports of earnings and the outlook for better business during the present year. Bethlehem's stock was especially strong and active and was among the first to respond to the bull support today.

One noticeable feature of the market is the interest of the public in the bull movement and the appearance of outside orders from men outside of New York, and the buyers are depending upon this awakened interest throughout the country to help them in the campaign as it progresses.
